I have just become aware that the City of Karratha is going to increase our rates this year.

To say I am appalled is putting it mildly and I strongly object.

When houses in Karratha are devalued to below what they cost to build and there is very little to see that there will be any substantial change to this situation in the near future, to then be told that rates are going to increase is just rubbing salt into the wound!

I sincerely hope that the City councillors will realise the hardship that they are putting on ratepayers, who are already finding it hard to keep their heads above water.
