Mayor's foreword

Our Age Friendly Strategy has been thoughtfully prepared focusing on the wellbeing and inclusion of ageing residents in the City of Karratha. It provides us with an overarching guide on how we shall ensure adequate infrastructure and service provision is available to advance the aspirations and wellbeing of the City's ageing community.

While our City is deemed a 'young population', our purpose is to support and engage with all community members, including our older residents. This strategy was developed with careful consultation. The majority of older residents consulted said they wanted to stay and retire with the City. For this to be an attractive and viable option as we grow, we need to work closely with the aged care and health sector and the community to ensure we are meeting the current and future needs of older people. We want to enable a proactive and inclusive approach to understanding the future needs of our aging community.

This strategy will be used in conjunction with other informing strategies to allocate resources, encourage collaborations and partnerships, identify priority areas and discover the aspirations of our diverse, safe, healthy community.

I am very pleased to present the 2021-2026 Age Friendly Strategy; a strong set of guiding principles and action areas that focus on the needs of our seniors for engagement, accessibility, health care and housing, while aligning with Council's vision to become Australia's most liveable regional city, for all ages.

Peter Long
Mayor, City of Karratha

Our strategy in summary

The City of Karratha Age Friendly Strategy 2021 – 2026 sets out a road map for our approach to supporting and engaging with older residents, and is the result of community consultation, desktop research, and service mapping. This strategy provides a reference point for improved engagement with stakeholders and outlines potential collaborative partnerships in service delivery, ensuring we continue to be a local government that values our ageing community.

Global trends show that the world is ageing; by 2050, 1 in 5 people will be over 60. With this in mind, the City of Karratha has developed this strategy in line with the World Health Organisations Checklist for Age-friendly Cities. The result is a solid framework that will guide the City of Karratha to deliver outcomes that address the current and perceived future needs of the ageing community.

Our work will be reviewed regularly to ensure we are delivering on the initiatives outlined in this strategy and periodic evaluation will guarantee we adapt our approach as necessary to remain a relevant contributor to our local aged care sector.

While the City has a role to play in the wellbeing of older people locally, there are a number of other community groups, state and national departments, health and service providers and commercial operations that can have a positive impact on older people. Each of these represents an opportunity for meaningful and considered collaboration.

Demographic breakdown

According to the 2016 Census, the population of the City of Karratha Local Government Area is 21,473 (ABS, 2016). The City of Karratha has a 'young population'; the median age of residents is 31 years (compared to Western Australia, 36 years; Australia, 38 years).

The Department of Health defines the ageing population as non-Indigenous people aged over 65 years, and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people aged over 50 years. The number of residents aged over 65 years in the City of Karratha is 557 or 2.5% of the population (compared to Western Australia, 14%; Australia 15.8%). There are 495 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people aged over 45 years in the City of Karratha. (ABS, 2016).

The following information is a snapshot of the residential profile of senior people living in the City of Karratha.

Background

The City of Karratha's vision is to become Australia's most liveable regional city; to achieve this, it is important to create a plan to address the needs of our ageing population.

The world's population is ageing. In response to this, the World Health Organisation (WHO) promotes its 'Age-friendly Communities' initiative. The World Health Organisation has published an Age-friendly Checklist, which lists eight domains of an 'age-friendly city'; a City, which supports the health and social inclusion of its older residents. This work forms the basis of age friendly planning for the City of Karratha.

In 2017, the City of Karratha local government area was analysed by Regional Development Australia (RDA) as part of the North West Ageing and Aged Care Strategy. This body of work outlined some of the issues faced in servicing the ageing community, which primarily arise from the cultural and geographic barriers that exist in the North of Western Australia. Current trends in Northern Western Australia show that most residents move away in their retirement for a variety of reasons including:

- To gain access to a lower cost of living;
- To access a wider range of aged care facilities and services;
- To be in closer proximity to family.

Becoming 'age friendly' is a global initiative to provide opportunities for active ageing and allow older people to participate fully in community life. An Age Friendly Strategy is one of the most effective means for the City of Karratha to respond to the needs of our ageing population. It is important to the City that our whole community feels included and our older residents are supported to stay healthy, active and engaged

<pp>12-13

Why we need an Age Friendly Strategy

Council has an ongoing commitment to building a city that is safe and inclusive, with opportunities to maintain a good quality of life and access to a range of services as people age. In order to deliver outcomes for our older residents, this commitment needs to be captured in a clear and innovative strategy that encompasses the views of our ageing community and guides our work moving forward.

The City of Karratha Age Friendly Strategy 2021- 2026 will assist the City in planning and developing services and facilities that best meet the needs of the whole community. It will inform the allocation of resources and provide a conduit for collaborations and partnerships to achieve positive outcomes for our ageing community.

Our older population play a vital role in enhancing social, cultural and economic community life. It is important that Council provide the support for older people to fully participate in all aspects of community life, and have opportunities to live out their retirement in the region.

This strategy is Council's commitment to older people in the region. We have a role in understanding and responding to the needs of older people in our community and advocating in broader government and community settings.

The City of Karratha Age Friendly Strategy gives us an opportunity to create positive change and a stronger voice for the aged care sector locally by:

- Providing a holistic shared vision and framework
- Describing the principles by which we will operate and make decisions
- Providing guidance for Council in its advocacy with all levels of government and industry
- Providing clarity in the pursuit of funding and other resources to address service gaps and priority areas for action and maintain alignment with community expectation and need.

Supporting older people to remain in the City of Karratha, and feel included in the community strongly aligns with Council's vision to become Australia's most liveable regional city. After all, communities develop only when the needs of all residents are met.

<pp>14

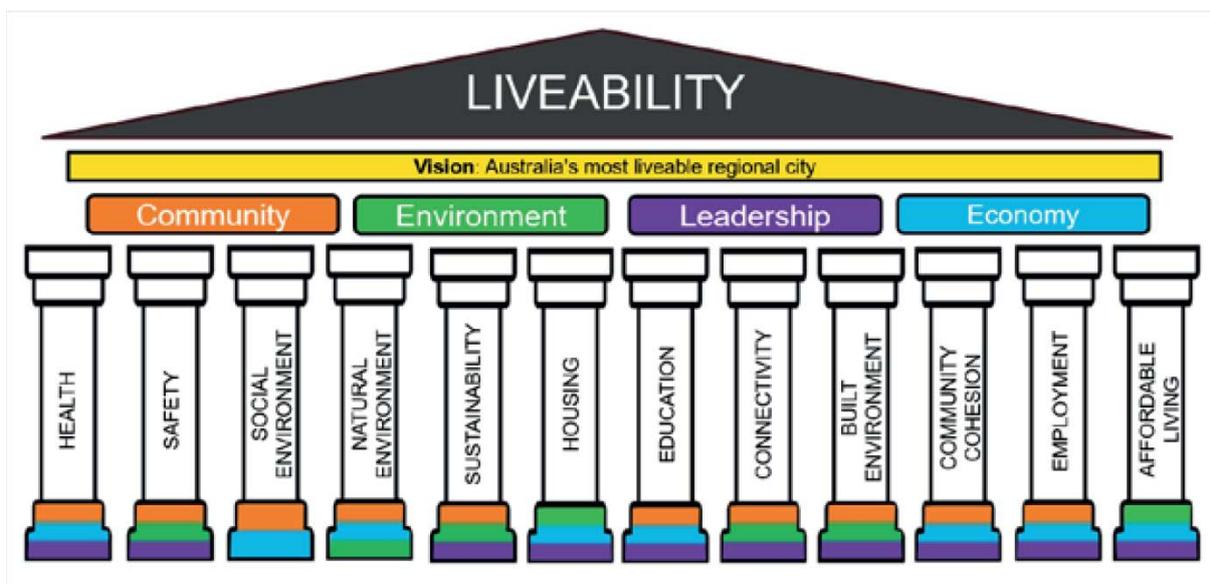

How does this strategy work?

We believe in planning for a bright future that fulfils the needs of current and future generations. To ensure the best outcomes for our community at each stage of our journey to becoming Australia's most liveable regional city, we have developed strategies and plans for the short, medium and long term. These plans are integrated so when we are working on short-term projects we are also contributing to the long-term goals we have in place and ensuring the best use of resources in all of our activities.

Our Strategic Community Plan 2016-2026 provides a vision for the future of the local government area and outlines how the City and community will achieve that vision over 10 years. It states our aspirations and objectives, regards the current and future resource capacity and demographic trends of the region.

In addition to our Strategic Community Plan, the City of Karratha has invested time developing 12 Liveability Pillars that uphold the four themes of our Strategic Community Plan. Each of these pillars represent a specific theme that contributes to the overall liveability of a place and will assist us to achieving our vision.

<pp>15

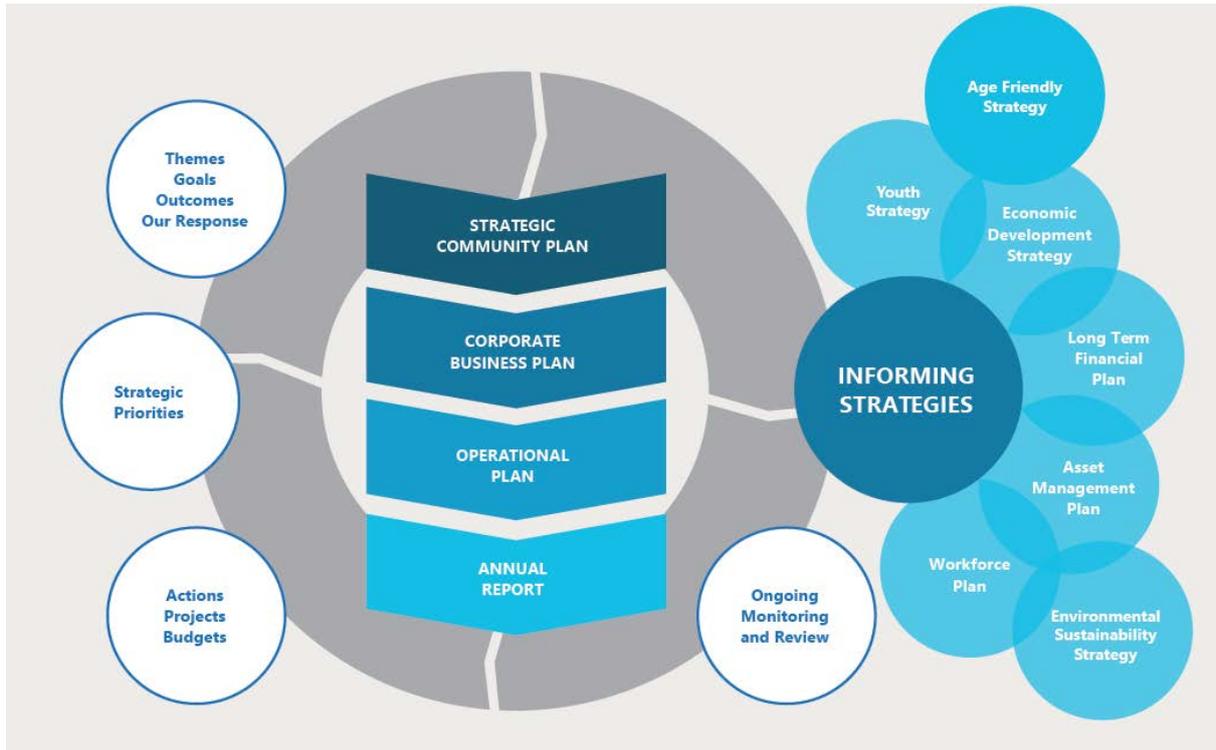

Embedding the strategy into our operations

The Age Friendly Strategy works to guide specific actions, initiatives and budgets within the organisation to achieve the goals of the Strategic Community Plan.

To implement the strategy and achieve the outcomes identified, initiatives will be planned, budgeted and delivered, taking into consideration the most appropriate role for Council to play.

The strategy will be embedded into operational plans and key actions to ensure that what is planned will be delivered.

Reporting of progress and performance is captured in the quarterly and annual reports and the strategy is continually reviewed to ensure it is up to date and relevant to the changing environment in the city and broader region.

<pp>16

Key steps in strategy development

Work to develop this strategy included consultation with aged care sector stakeholders, the ageing community, and our local community groups. This process allowed us to identify relevant themes and map the views and aspirations of our community against wider sector experiences.

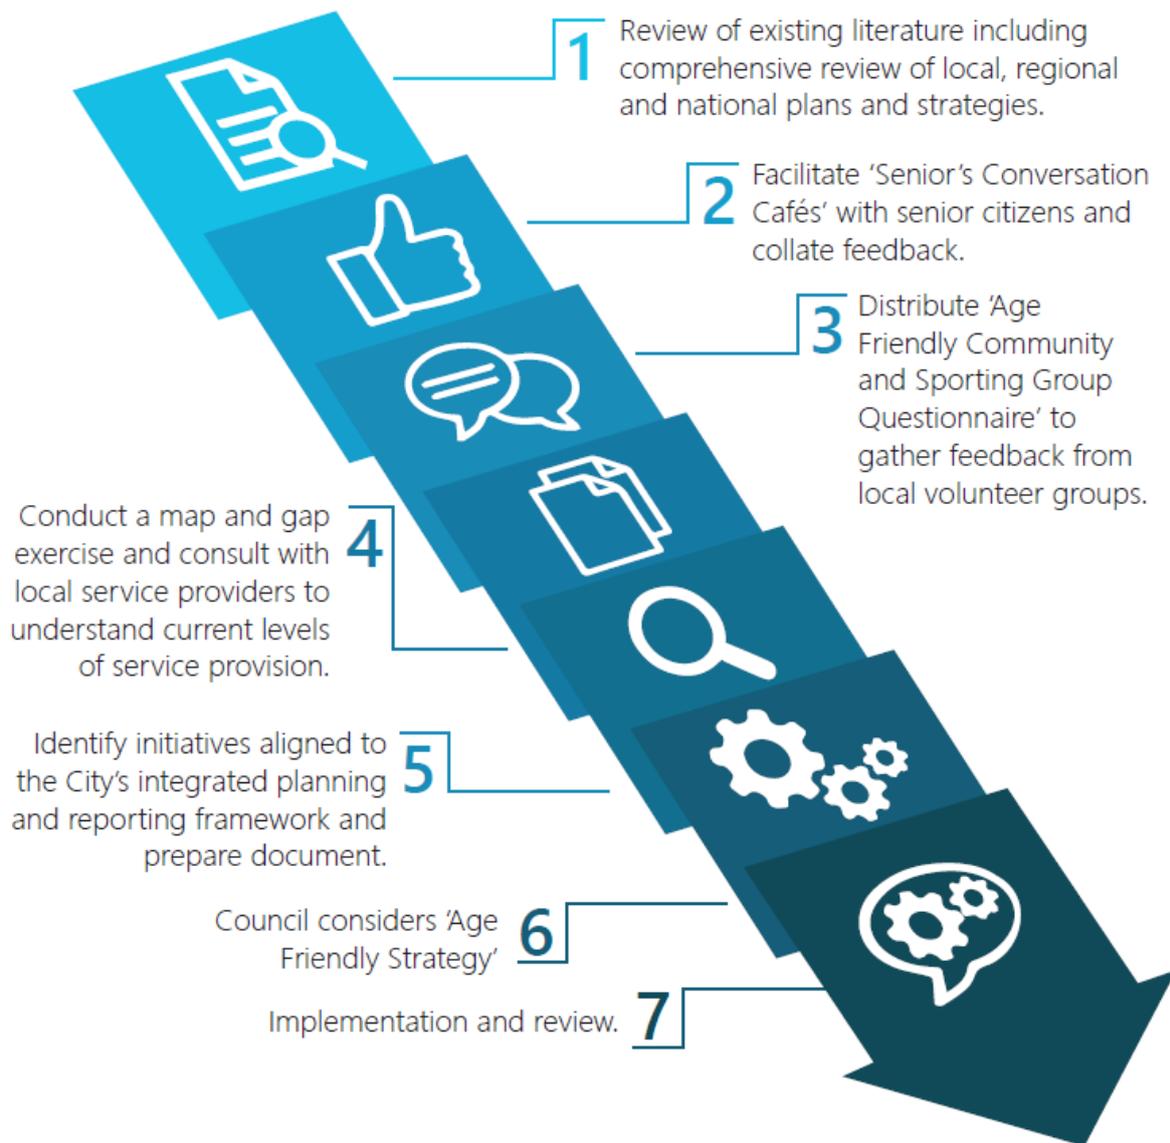

A key piece of consultation included our ‘Seniors Conversation Cafés’, held in early 2020. Furthermore, we conducted targeted engagement with our older library members, captured older people in our annual community survey, corresponded with local service providers and gauged feedback from our local sporting clubs and community groups.

In total, 161 stakeholders provided input, including:

- 132 senior people
- 18 community groups
- 11 service providers

All feedback was collated and coupled with industry practice and literature reviews to formulate a set of guiding principles and outcomes that will inform this strategy and accompany the City's integrated planning framework. This strategy is designed as a guide, identifying priority areas for action and associated measures to assess our progress to become age friendly, but also responsive to the changing needs of our older population.

<pp>18

What have we heard?

After carefully analysing all feedback received during consultation, we have identified emerging and common themes to focus on locally. These closely mirror the themes and priority areas identified in previous studies conducted in the aged care sector at both regional and state level. Highlights from respondents that guided development of the strategy are identified as follows:

Senior People

- Top concerns included accessing health care without leaving the region.
- The cost of living for pensioners and retirees.
- Suitable housing options for both retirement and nursing care.
- Appropriate transport options
- The majority of older residents want to stay and retire in the City of Karratha, but worry that future ill health may force them to relocate to Perth to gain access to health services and a range of accommodation options.

Clubs and Groups

- Groups and clubs have difficulty advertising to and engaging new older members.
- Barriers to older participation includes transport and community perception that membership requires a certain fitness level.
- The perception of older people that you need to participate in the sport/activity to contribute.
- No local clubs have an established veterans teams due to lack of uptake from the older community.

Industry Stakeholders

- Staff retention and lack of resources are barriers to addressing gaps in aged care service delivery.
- Most aged care services are dependent on external funding bodies.
- Service providers struggle with providing transport for older people.
- Older people face long waiting periods for access to federally funded care packages.
- Staff recruitment and retention is difficult due to high cost of living and limited accommodation options.

- Hireable community/people mover(for community groups/sporting clubs)

Service: Aged Appropriate Housing

West (Karratha and Dampier)

- Warambie Estate: 11 units reserved for retirement living.
- Department of Communities: have a small number of units suitable for senior social housing tenants. Aims to house seniors in close proximity to one another to create neighbourhoods.

East (Wickham, Roebourne, Pt Samson)

- NAC: Elders village (for NAC members only, 10 units).

Telephone/Online/Mobile Services

Gaps in Service Provision

- Lifestyle retirement options: all units reserved for retirees are currently occupied. Minimal options for retirees to downsize.

Service: Community and Home Based Support

West (Karratha and Dampier)

- EPIC: provides inclusion support, personal in home care, respite and domestic assistance for older people who are part of the NDIS.
- IBN Group: funding available for elderly members (aged 55+) who require home or vehicle accessibility modifications.

Priority areas for action

The priority areas of our older residents has been captured through our annual community survey, 'Seniors Conversation Cafes' and in correspondence with our older residents.

Within the age friendly focus, four priority areas have been identified when working with our older people. The priority areas are listed in the following diagram.

<pp>24

Priority areas and outcomes

Under each of the priority areas, we have identified our desired outcomes and outlined what World Health Organisation Domains they align with. These outcomes have been developed to be measurable and directly guide specific initiatives. The initiatives will be reviewed and revised as part of our annual planning process.

Accessibility (WHO Domains; Social Participation, Outdoor Spaces and Buildings, Communication and Information, Transport)

Outcomes
